CLASS NEWS:

We have had a rather germy week in Acorns this week, with lots of winter coughs, temperatures and sore throats doing the rounds. Whilst school attendance is very important, we thank you for reducing the spread of illness by keeping your children at home when they are unwell. Get well wishes to all our Acorns who are feeling under the weather!

At hometime Acorns are dismissed with infants at 3:10pm, we stagger our home times reduce pressure on parking. You can assist by ensuring you head straight back to your car once you have collected your child. Please note, The trim trail and school field are closed at pickup.

OUR LEARNING...

This week we have discovered a little more about the anteater in our Pathways text 'I'm Going to Eat This Ant'. He his getting very bored of eating ants, so we used our growing knowledge of letters and sounds to write a new menu.

In maths, we have been investigating height and length as we learnt about measure. We worked to order the class from tallest to shortest.

We have started to rehearse our Acorn nativity for this year - The ABC Nativity. Your child will have brought home their lines in book bags, please help them to practice saying them clearly. Thank you.

Next week, in our literacy sessions we will be feeding the anteater by identifying initial, middle and ending sounds in words.
